Eagle Consulting Group Appoints New Sales Consultant

Press Release

New York City—October 26, 2005 – Eagle Consulting Group, Inc. today announced the hiring of Jim Thielke as a Software Sales Consultant. Thielke’s primary responsibilities will be to generate new leads and secure new sales of Sage Software products for Eagle.

Thielke was hired as part of the Sage Software 100/100 program. Eagle was a part of a select group of channel partners asked to participate in the program. As a participant in the program, Eagle received $10,000 to offset the cost of recruiting, hiring and training a new sales executive, and to subsidize the cost of a lead generation campaign.

“Jim is an experienced sales professional with a high degree of technical expertise,” explained Debra Ellis, president of Eagle Consulting Group. “I feel he has the talent, personality, and skill set to power up our sales engine.”

Thielke has graduated from a week of intensive training at the Sage Software Sales Academy in Dallas, TX. The Academy provides an integrated approach to teaching Sage Software products’ features and benefits, combined with industry and product immersion training, and selling skills.

Prior to joining Eagle, Thielke worked for IBM Global Services as a Senior Sales Specialist and an Advanced Systems Engineer. He spent several years as Sales Director for Financial Services, Inc. a company that provides data processing services to banks where he started a new Web division catering on online banks.

“After a long tenure at IBM, I’m looking forward to working for a smaller organization where my talents can be focused directly on our customers,” said Thielke.

Thielke earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Business Administration from Nathaniel Hawthorne College in Antrim, NH and Masters Degree in Marketing from Ramato College.
